

It Hurts Me That You Love Me

All the things we're dreamin of
and all the things that move us, all the things we think about
will not last forever.

All the thoughts we had together
and all our common hopes and all the dreams we dream together
will not last forever.

All the heartbeats that we feel
and all the tender touches
and all the love that joins us
will not last forever.

So it hurts so much that you love me.
It hurts so much that I love you,
'cause if one of us will leave one day
the otherone will lose a part of himself.

All emotiones that we cherish for each other and all confidential looks we changed.
All personal words we talk to each other will be impossible some day.

All the pleasures we share together
all consolation we spent in pain.
All the fears we have passed together
will no longer be present some time.

So it hurts so much that you love me
It hurts so much that I love you,
'cause if one of us will leave one day
the otherone will lose a part of himself.
