

Redheads (Women)

The first thing you notice is a soft fire around their face,
an auburn halo that vibrates in high gear.

A kind of heat radiates from them like a visual perfume,
a curious instant allure.

There are Redheads in several shades and temperaments,
Redheads with strong voices and keen wills.
Redheads who have their thermostats on a permanent simmer,
Redheads who look as if they have just come from a shower.

By a happy coincidence of pigment and spark,
Redheads improve the world around them.
Redheads differ from basic coloured women.
Redheads are different underneath.

Redheads often have eyes in unusual colours,
such as green and hazel.
Redheads have freckles scattered over their skin,
like an incomplete connect-the-dots drawing.

(Lyrics by Dieter Mucha / Februar 1984 (Uni Bielefeld) / revised: 04.08.2018)